

Website Learners - About Us Page

Ever wanted to make a website, but had no idea where to start?

Let us show you how easy it can be!

Yes, you can make a website, even if you're not very computer-savvy. And no, it doesn't have to take hours. You can have your own site up and running in 15 minutes.

We'll show you how.

We created Website Learners as a place where anyone can go to quickly and easily learn about web design. Create your very own website, blog, ecommerce store, business site, and more using our easy and quick video tutorials.

Most of the tutorial videos on YouTube about creating a website are painfully long – we're talking two hours or more. It's a drag. Their explanations are drawn out, the screenshots are slow, and the information is overly technical. You don't need that. We'll show you how to create a website and have it up and running in just 10-15 minutes.

It's easy, it's fast, and you can do it yourself.

Our Story

Back in 2015, we made a quick 5-minute tutorial for our blog readers on how to make a WordPress website. We had a lot of fun making the video, and hoped it would help people to see how easy creating a website could be.

To our surprise, the video quickly became top-ranked on YouTube and Google. So we made some more videos on topics like custom email setup, marketing, and more, and people loved those too! We felt the love on the gushing comments for our videos, and it motivated us to create Website Learners, so we could help even more people!

We're a team of three friends from Chennai, India who are passionate about making things simple and sparking new ideas in people's minds. Our goal is to inspire you to do new and exciting things online. We'll give you the confidence to get it done, the help to get you going, and the resources you need to take action today!

Let's get started!
